

Email Marketing Checklist

□ I am committed to practicing my email marketing for my subscriber's benefit and I am focused on my subscriber
☐ I am aware of the increase in mobile email access on the part of consumers
☐ I am committed to maintain high, professional-quality standards in my email marketing ☐ I am committed to:
Ensuring that my subscriber feels a rush of kindly feeling, when she sees my name in her inbox
Giving her a good reason to open that email on the spot
$\hfill \square$ I am developing the habit of spending time crafting the perfect Subject line
☐ I have completed the exercise in analyzing my inbox
☐ I have done further research to ensure I have located and identified "hidden" customer segments within my market by:
Checking my blog for comments, questions, complaints and the number of views per post ☐ Done as above with forums or membership sites I run or belong to

Input these questions in Google, to find other searchers (and forums); and see what results
☐ I have directly asked my potential subscribers:
☐ In person
☐ In social networks
☐ In forums
☐ Via polls and surveys
I have made sure I find out as much as I can out about the psychology and lifestyle of my target subscriber (not just relying on demographic data)
☐ I have identified her unique challenges, needs and situation
☐ I am committed to helping my target subscriber:
☐ Save time
☐ Have an easier life in the areas I can assist
Get the "instant results" from my marketing presentation that mobile searchers like

☐ I am careful to call my sign-up incentives "gifts" – and not the outdated

"freebies"

I am ready to keep track of and jump on the edge of new tactics
I am on the alert for ways to suit the email media delivery to my target subscriber
I have subscribed to my own Autoresponder's official blog and I am checking up on emails announcing new posts
I have downloaded a RSS feeder so I can save time by reading my feeds in one go
I am taking full advantage of my Autoresponder's capabilities to connect with social media directly using my follow up and broadcast emails
I am keeping choice tips and benefits to place in my P.S. section
I have installed Aweber's PayPal App, if I have chosen Aweber as my Autoresponder
I have integrated social media sharing and share buttons with my Autoresponder messages
I have created an email Newsletter in the format best suited to my target subscriber
I have searched my inbox
I have realized that questions and even complaints can be a real gift, providing me not only with potential testimonials but also:
